Italian language
courses in Bologna

Bologna is a beautiful medieval city, little visited by tourists, but with an excellent quality of life. It is famous for its university, the oldest in Europe, and for its culture. Students come from all over the world and so give the city a young and dynamic atmosphere.

Bologna is also well-known for its food, and for its covered porticoes. From Bologna you can easily reach other major Italian cities such as Florence (less than an hour away by train), Venice (just two hours north), and Rome (under three hours). There are also plenty of local attractions, though if you're not in the mood for going anywhere particular, you can just wander around Bologna's beautiful medieval streets, visit one of its many museums, or indulge yourself shopping.

Bologna has shops to suit all budgets, from the twice-weekly street market to the most fashionable designer boutiques. And in the evenings, there are literally hundreds of bars and restaurants to choose from, as well as theatres, cinemas, live music venues and piazzas which are perfect for just hanging out in!
